

Briefing Notice

Farm Bill in Focus:

The Future of Forestry in the Farm Bill

June 7, 2023

2:00PM - 3:30PM EDT

Congressional Visitor Center – HVC200
First St SE, Washington, DC 20515

Please RSVP to receive updates: eesi.org/060723farmbill

Live webcast will be streamed at: www.eesi.org/livecast

The Environmental and Energy Study Institute (EESI) and U.S. Nature4Climate invite you to a briefing on opportunities to advance climate-friendly forestry in this year's Farm Bill. The forestry programs and incentives in the Farm Bill can provide greenhouse gas emission reduction benefits, as well as build resilience to climate impacts such as wildfire risk and extreme heat. At the same time, these programs generate jobs and present opportunities for innovation.

During this briefing, panelists will explain forestry-related programs in the Farm Bill and cover essential forestry topics, including wildfire management, innovative wood products, carbon markets, and urban forestry.

Introductory remarks by:

- Rep. Buddy Carter (R-Ga.)

Speakers for this session include:

- Lauren Cooper, Founder, Forest Carbon and Climate Program at Michigan State University; Chief Conservation Officer, Sustainable Forestry Initiative
- Freddie Davis, Rural Training and Research Center Director, The Federation of Southern Cooperatives
- Brendan Shane, Climate Director, Trust for Public Land
- Christine Cadigan, Executive Vice President, Carbon Origination, American Forest Foundation

Join us for the full briefing series. More information at eesi.org/farmbill2023

- The Process and Path Forward for Passing a Bipartisan Farm Bill | Recording Available
- Climate, Energy, and Economic Win-Wins in the Farm Bill | Recording Available
- Unlocking Rural Economies: Farm Bill Investments in Rural America | Recording Available
- June 7: The Future of Forestry in the Farm Bill
- June 21: Conservation Practices from Farms to Forests and Wetlands

If you missed a briefing, you can tune into the briefing recordings.

These events are free and open to the public.

For more information, contact Dan O'Brien at dobrien@eesi.org or (202) 662-1880.

